Profile

As a Full Stack Developer, I've built and launched numerous projects using React and Angular. Whether working independently or within a team, I'm confident in delivering high-quality solutions and maintaining a productive development environment. My expertise lies in React, Angular, TypeScript, and Next.js, along with working on SQL databases using ORMs like Prisma and Knex. With over two years of experience, I've worked remotely with different teams and contributed to many projects.
